staff of Upholsterers.

In our repair shop we have a competent staff of Upholsterers, some of the best in the city, and as our business obliges us to employ them all the time, whether we have much or little for them to do, we make our charges for re-upholstering and re-covering furniture extremely low. We have cabinet makers, too, for repairing broken furniture, who are capable of doing the most delicate work.

bers and its secretary attending, held prac-tically its first formal business session in its temporary quarters yesterday, and made matters of record the results a plished by its members acting independently the past two weeks. It was found that con siderable valuable information, both geo-graphical, historical and of a legal nature, had been accumulated through the efforts of the commissioners working in special lines, and that valuable collections bearing on their work now in public and privatu libraries would be made access whenever desired.

A great mass of material had already accumulated and the commission had no doubt now that evidence sufficient to suport definite decisions would be forth-om ing. The principal formal action today was a direction issued to the secretary to request the Department of State to furnish on the question now in its archives.

DIPLOMATIC DOCUMENTS AVAILABLE Secretary Olney has already signified his willingness to place all the official docu-ments of the Department at the disposal of the commission, and it is expected that a great amount of diplomatic correspondence much of which has hitherto been considered confidential, will be made available. The commission asked that the documents be delivered after Monday next, when the permanent quarters will be occupied, and when safes will be provided to contain all articles of extreme value.

The building in which the commission is located is the most thoroughly fire-proof in Washington, and nothing has been left undone to make absolutely secure all material loaned to the commission. Justice Brewer was compelled to leave the session at noon, after nearly two hours attendance, in order to sit on the Suprens Court beach when ex-President Harrison argued the case in which he is counsel. Just before he left Director Charles D. Walcott of the Geological Survey, accompanied by Marcus Baker, the chief ecological expert of the government, was admitted to the session to deliver and ex-plain the elaborate maps of the physical conditions of Venezuela and the northern part of South America, upon wis in the survey has been engaged for the past two

These maps, which are blank as far as political divisions are concerned, give al-most infintesimal details of the rivers, ridges, paths, mines, and settlements of the disputed country, and upon them as bases all other maps of historical importance will be studied. Director Wolcott and his ex-perts are always within easy call of the ommission for geographical advice.

The regular weekly conferences of the commission are not to be disturbed by visitors, a rule having been made to that effect. On other days one or more of the commissioners, as well as the secretary, will always be in attendance to receive evidence, advice or applications for infor-mation. Several members of Congress, among them Mr. Livingston of Georgia and a number of attorneys, were confronted by this rule today.

Justice Brewer, on his way to the Capitol after today's meeting, told a reporter of the United Press that the commission was making excellent progress that while the great interest taken by the public in its proceedings was fully recognized and appreciated, it would be extremely injudicious to attempt to make public bits of evidence in a haphazard way which might be exceedingly misleading and infarious to the work is the result of careful living. Keeping the blood pure and the blood pure and the body free from even minor aliments adds years of enjoyment to one's life. The trouble with most of us nowadays is, that we live too rapidly. We are in such a hurry to go some place, or do some thing, that the care of our bodily health is wofully neglected. Nature never pardons neglect. Her laws must be respected, or punish un tensues.

Healthy Old Age

A man may abuse his stormal for the blood of the property of the propert is intensed.

A man may abuse his stomach for a time, but after awhile dyspepsia comes and liver complaints and kidney troubles.

These things develop all the latent weakness in his body. They make digestion imperfect, they prevent proper assimilation, proper secretion of the digestive fluids and the proper exerction of refuse matter. Probably the last is most important of all, for poisonous matter in bowels, liver and kidneys soon gets into the blood and so is carried all over the body. There is no telling where such things will stop.

In the beginning, a little common sense and a simple, natural remedy is all that is needed. Even when the trouble has progressed to serious stages, a simple, scientific remedy working strongly with Nature—soothing, stimulating, invigorating, the organs of digestion, will have a wonderful effect on the whole body. There is really nothing wonderful about it. The blood is all made in the digestive organs. If they are healthy and strong, the blood is the same and it makes every part of the body strong.

Curious Stories in the David Moore Will Contest.

WAS AN ECCENTRIC OLD MAN

Never Wore a Cont, Asked the Same Questions Every Day Year After Year, Read Newspapers Upside Down and Had Other Idiosyncrasies Without Number.

The hearing in the Moore-Barbour conest over the will of the late David Moore took the time of Judge McComas' court all day yesterday and will be continued Monday.

Mrs. Annie E. Barbour, with one or two friends, sat with her counsel throughout the proceedings, while the son and daughters of her prother, the late James P. Moore, who are asking Mrs. Barbour to surrender to them their father's snare in their grandfather's estate, occupies seats about Attorneys Worthington, Johnson and Cole, on the other side.

After Miss Moore had finished her testinony as told in the Evening Times, her inous as one in the Exempts as issters were called upon to testify.

Mrs. Salite Davidson said she was frequently at her grandfather's house and heard him swear as her sister had testiried. She never knew him to wear a coat. He would come to the fire in the winter time and warm his hands, and then go out into the cold again, all the time with his coat off. She talked very little with bim. It was usually a routine of the same questions over and over again. He used to ask her about a Mr. Ardelia in the printing office, where she worked, and was always the same questions in the same peculiar manner.

Mrs. Anna Johnson, wife of William G. Johnson of Carlisle & Johnson, testified that she went to her grandfather's often, both before 1875 and after 1880. In the interval neither she nor any of the children went there because her mother told them not to go. This was because her aunt, Mrs. Barbour, had requested her mother not to allow them to go.

Her grand/ather usually sat in the corner of the porch. He never gave her any fruit nor anything else. When she was there as a child she paid little attention to him. The children used to try to get the pears, and he would swear outrageously if any were taken. He would stold her grandmother who, really in many cases, had taken it.

SAME OLD QUESTIONS. When she would first see her grandfather on her visits he usually asked who she was and where she was born. He would write the date of her birth down on the margin of the newspaper, which he habitu-ally had in his hand. Then he would ask about the other children. This happened over and over again from week to week and month to month, both before 1875 and after 1880. He slways seemed to know, however, that the boy, David, was the youngest.

"He had got a 'cinch' on that fact at least," remarked Mr. Worthington as Mrs. point.

Resolution Is Expected From the Foreign Affairs Committee.

Majority of the Members Are in Favor of Giving the Diplomat a Mild Reproval.

A mild resolution of censure will probably be adopted by the House Committee on Foreign Affairs as an expression of their disapproval of the sentiments uttered by Ambassador Bayard in the speeches delivered by him in England some weeks ago.

The full text of these speeches, together with the correspondence between the State Department and Mr. Bayard, relating to the matter, were sent to the House early this week and referred to a subcommittee, of whom Mr. Draper of Massachusetts, is

This subcommittee met yesterday afternoon and discussed the matter for an hour and a half.

The other members of the committee were Mr. Pearson of North Carolina and Mr. Dinamore of Arkansas. None of the three was willing to make public the details of the session, but it is understood that in a general way the majority feit that the House should take some action calculated to express its dissatisfaction with the position taken by Mr. Bayard, the argument being that American diplomatic representatives abroad cannot be too cirunspect in their public utterances. What the full committee may do when the subcommittee shall make its report is a matter of speculation, but it is not doubted that it will adopt the conclusions of the subcommittee.

BAYARD MAY BE CENSURED MUNYON CUR

After Five Physicians Failed.

Mr. P. G. Clark, One of the Old Ford Theater Victims, Who for So Long Was an Invalid. Has Completely Recovered His Usual Health.

After Two Months' Treatment by Prof. Munyon's Specialists He Was Cured a Year Ago-Has Never Had an Hour's Sickness or Lost a Day

Mr. P. G. Clark, who lives at 1121 Fifadmirer of Munyon, and no che of the many thousands he has cured has better or more cause for gratitude than Mr. Clark.

Every citizen of Washington, in fact, throughout the whole country, remembers the old Ford Theater disaster which oc-curred three years ago; how many were killed and injured, and what misery is brought to scores of households here. Mr. Clark was one of the victims of this, one of the greatest catastrophes in modern history of this country. Mr. Clark at the time received a severe injury in the stomach, which gave rise to a chronio indigestion.

Mr. Clark, in his own words, says:

"When I went to Dr. Munyon for treatment I had fully given up hope of ever getting any relief, and thought I must die, as I had tried five different doctors; none gave me any relief; I could not keep anything on my stomach at all, no matter how light the diet; my skin became very sallow, and I became so weak that I could scarcely walk. I lost weight until I was a mere skeleton, only weighing 135 pounds. The physician did not give mobut very little encouragement, but I decided to place myself under his care and did so, with the result that in just two months I went to work, and have not lost a day since. I now weigh 176 pounds and months I went to work, and have not loss a day since. I now weigh 176 pounds, and feel about as well as I ever did. I can never tell how thankful I am to Munyon for saving my life."

Prof. Munyon puts up a cure for every disease. Sold by all druggists, mostly for 25 cents a vial. His office at 713. Pourteenth street horthwest, is open daily, 9 to 5; Monday and Thursday evenings, 6 to 8, and Sandays, 10 to 12, where he can be consulted free of charge on all diseases.
